PART 2

Suspicion of, and infection with, bluetongue

Notifications and initial requirements where bluetongue is suspected

11.—(1) The owner or keeper of any animal or carcass, or any person who examines or inspects any animal or carcass, who suspects that the animal or carcass is infected with bluetongue, must—

- (a) immediately notify the authorised veterinary inspector;
- (b) not move any animal or carcass off the premises where that animal or carcass is located; and
- (c) where there are means available for doing so, ensure that any animals located on those premises are confined indoors during any period of midge activity.

(2) Any person who analyses a sample taken from any animal or carcass and who finds evidence of infection with the bluetongue virus must immediately notify the authorised veterinary inspector.

(6) The definition was so extended by S.S.I. 2008/11, which is revoked by article 34 of this Order.

(8) Annex 1 was substituted by the Annex to Commission Implementing Regulation (EU) No 456/2012.

Suspect and contact premises

12.—(1) Where suspicion of bluetongue has been notified in respect of any animal or carcase, a veterinary inspector must serve a notice (‘a suspect case notice’) on either the occupier of, or keeper of any animal on, those premises (‘the suspect premises’), or both, requiring that—

- (a) no animal enters or leaves the premises;
- (b) an inventory of all animals on the premises is made, recording, for each species—

- (c) the inventory is kept up to date to take account of animals which are born or die, including details of the dates of birth and death of such animals;
- (d) all animals on the premises are confined indoors except as directed by a veterinary inspector; and
- (e) the premises and animals on them are subject to the midge control measures specified in the notice.

(2) The person making the inventory must also keep a record of it for at least two years from the date of the last entry.

(3) A veterinary inspector may serve a suspect case notice on the occupier of, or keeper of any animal at other premises (‘the contact premises’), or both, in the event that the location of those premises, their geographical situation or contacts with the suspect premises provides grounds for suspecting the possibility of contamination with bluetongue at the contact premises.

(4) A notice under paragraph (1) or (3) must not be revoked until the suspected presence of bluetongue has been ruled out by the Scottish Ministers.

Temporary control zones

13.—(1) The Scottish Ministers may, on suspicion of bluetongue virus on premises, declare a temporary control zone.

(2) If there is suspicion of bluetongue on premises outside Scotland, the Scottish Ministers may declare a temporary control zone in Scotland.

Notices on infection with bluetongue

14.—(1) If a veterinary inspector is satisfied that the bluetongue virus is present in any animal or at any premises (‘the infected premises’) the veterinary inspector may serve a notice, doing one or more of the following things, on the occupier of or keeper of any animals on the infected premises, or both—

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Order)

This Order restates, with amendments, the Bluetongue (Scotland) Order 2008. Accordingly, it—

- implements Council Directive 2000/75/EC (“the Directive”) laying down specific provisions for the control and eradication of bluetongue
- enforces Commission Regulation 1266/2007.

The only substantive differences from the 2008 Order arise from the amendment of the Directive by Directive 2012/5/EU so as to permit vaccination against bluetongue outside a restricted zone. These differences are contained in Part 5 of the Order.

Part 2 of the Order provides for notification of and other procedural requirements on suspicion of bluetongue.

Part 3 provides for the establishment of various zones on confirmation of bluetongue and movement restrictions and slaughter.

Part 4 regulates exports.
