(2) Where an eligible student is a person referred to in paragraph 7 of Schedule 1 and not in any other paragraph of that Schedule and his income arises from sources or under legislation different from sources or legislation normally relevant to a person referred to in paragraph 1 of Schedule 1, his income shall not be disregarded in accordance with sub-paragraph (1) but shall instead be disregarded to the extent necessary to ensure that he is treated no less favourably than a person who is referred to in any paragraph of Schedule 1 would be treated if in similar circumstances and in receipt of similar income.

(3) Where the eligible student receives income in a currency other than sterling, the value of that income for the purpose of this paragraph shall be –

- (a) if the student purchases sterling with the income, the amount of sterling the student so receives, and

(5) Where the Department is satisfied that the income of the parent in any financial year is, as a result of some event beyond his control, likely to be and to continue after that year to be not more than 85 per cent of the sterling value of his income in the previous financial year he may, for the purpose of enabling the eligible student to attend the course without hardship, ascertain the household income for the academic year of the eligible student's course in which that event occurred by taking as the residual income of the parent the average of his residual income for each of the financial years in which that academic year falls.

(6) Where the eligible student's parent satisfies the Department that his income is wholly or mainly derived from the profits of a business or profession carried on by him, then any reference in this Schedule to a preceding financial year shall mean the most recent period of twelve months which ends before the start of the relevant year and in respect of which accounts are kept relating to that business or profession.

(7) Where an eligible student's parent is in receipt of any income which does not form part of his gross taxable income by reason only that –

(9) Where –

- (a) one of the eligible student's parents dies either before or during the relevant year; and
- (b) that parent's income has been or would be taken into account for the purpose of determining the household income, the household income shall –

- (c) where the parent dies before the relevant year, be determined by reference to the income of the surviving parent; or
- (d) where the parent dies during the relevant year, be the aggregate of –
 - (i) the appropriate proportion of the household income determined by reference to the income of both parents, being the proportion in respect of that part of the relevant year during which both parents were alive; and
 - (ii) the appropriate proportion of the household income determined by reference to the income of the surviving parent, being the proportion in respect of that part of the relevant year remaining after the death of the other parent.

(10) Where the parents do not ordinarily live together throughout the relevant year, the household income shall be determined by reference to the income of whichever parent the Department considers the more appropriate under the circumstances.

(11) Where the parents do not ordinarily live together for part only of the relevant year, the household income shall be determined by reference to the aggregate of: –

- (a) the appropriate proportion of the household income determined in accordance with sub-paragraph (10), being the proportion in respect of that part of the relevant year for which the parents do not so live together; and

(3) Where an eligible student ceases to have a partner within the meaning of paragraph 1(j) during any relevant year, the household income shall be determined by reference to the eligible student's partner's income under sub-paragraph (1) divided by fifty-two and multiplied by the number of

 - (b) a contribution is payable in relation to more than one eligible student who is the child of either the eligible student’s parent or the eligible student’s parent’s partner; and
 - (c) the amount payable in relation to each eligible student is not equal to the amount payable in respect of every other eligible student, the contribution in respect of each eligible student shall be calculated under sub-paragraph (3).

(3) Where sub-paragraph (2) applies, the contribution payable in respect of each household shall be calculated and the apportionment carried out in accordance with sub-paragraph (1) withholding only that part of the contribution apportioned to each eligible student who is not part of the household.

(4) In a case where a contribution is payable in respect of more than one eligible student, and the residual income of any such eligible student is greater than nil, the contribution in relation to each eligible student shall be calculated in accordance with the following sub-paragraphs –

- (a) the contribution in respect of each eligible student shall be calculated without reference to paragraph 3 but otherwise in accordance with this Schedule and shall be apportioned between each eligible student in accordance with this paragraph;
- (b) there shall then be applied in addition in respect of each eligible student a further contribution of £1 for every complete £12·50 by which the sum calculated under sub-paragraph (c) exceeds £21,475;
- (c) the sum referred to in sub-paragraph (b) shall be the aggregate of any amounts calculated under paragraphs 3, 4 and 6 (where appropriate) with the deduction of the amount (if any) by which the aggregate of the amounts calculated under paragraphs 4 and 6 exceeds £21,475.

(5) Subject to sub-paragraph (6), there shall be added to a parent student’s residual income for the purpose of calculating the contribution to his statutory award any sum remaining –

- (a) where the parent student is the parent of only one eligible student and the contribution payable in respect of that eligible student is greater than the statutory award in respect of that eligible student, the difference between that contribution and that statutory award; or
- (b) where a parent student is the parent of more than one eligible student, any sum remaining after the apportionment of the contribution to his children under this paragraph.

(6) Where a parent student has a partner within paragraph 1(k), the sums added to his residual income under sub-paragraph (5) shall be calculated as though the contribution in respect of his children had been assessed with reference to paragraph 6, whether or not the contribution was actually calculated on that basis.

(7) In this paragraph, “household” means all those eligible students in respect of whom a contribution is calculated with reference to the same income under both paragraphs 4 and 6.”

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations.)

These Regulations amend the Education (Student Support) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 2003 (S.R. 2003 No. 298) (“the 2003 Regulations”). Changes in relation to the rates of fees, grants and loans are specified in Schedule 3 to and in paragraphs (5) and (6) of regulation 12 of these Regulations. Changes of substance to the 2003 Regulations are described below.

Regulation 2 of and Schedule 1 are amended to treat Swiss migrant workers and their spouses and children on the same basis as EEA migrant workers.

Regulation 3 is amended to revoke obsolete transitional measures in relation to the Education (Student Support) Regulations (Northern Ireland) 1998 (S.R. 1998/298).

Regulation 5 is amended in relation to designation of courses at certain institutions of higher education in the Republic of Ireland.

Regulation 6 (applications for financial support) is amended to allow students nine months instead of four from the start of the academic year in which to apply for support.

Regulation 10 (eligibility for grants for fees) is amended to ensure that paragraph (4), which allows certain exceptions to the bar on eligibility for students who have attended previous courses, only applies in relation to students who have failed to complete previous courses for compelling personal reasons where the previous course in question was the most recent course on which the student enrolled.

Regulation 11(1) has been amended to remove provisions, which were exceptionally included for certain students who commenced attending courses at institutions in the Republic of Ireland between September 1998 and August 1999. There are no longer any such students attending these institutions and therefore the provisions are redundant. Regulation 11(2) has been amended to clarify that grants for fees in respect of courses at institutions neither maintained nor assisted out of public funds, are payable only in respect of such institutions in the United Kingdom.

Regulation 13 is amended so that household income is used to assess the level of bursary payable rather than residual income. The thresholds of £10,000 and £20,000 have also been amended to £10,250 and £20,500 respectively.

Regulation 16 (grants for dependants) is amended in relation to paragraph (4), which concerns an eligible student who maintains a dependent who is ordinarily resident outside the United Kingdom. The Department’s discretion in this respect is removed, and the student is eligible for the maximum amount of grant only if he maintains a dependant who is ordinarily resident in the United Kingdom for six months or more of the relevant academic year.

Regulations 20 (maximum amounts of loans) and 24 (application of contribution) of the 2003 Regulations are amended to make provision, in relation to appropriate rates of loan, for students attending courses at a site or sites wholly or partly within the City of London or Metropolitan Police District, to cover those institutions which are not wholly within the relevant area.

Regulation 20 is further amended to remove the Department's discretion in relation to cases where different rates of loan apply in relation to parts of the year, and provides instead that the applicable rate for any quarter will be that which applies in relation to the majority of that quarter or, where the student changes circumstances exactly midway through a quarter, whichever of the relevant rates is higher.

Regulations 25 and 26 are amended to substitute an obligation for the Department's discretion in relation to making provisional payments where there has been a delay in calculating the amount of grant or loan which is payable.

A new Part VIII (assistance for part-time courses) is substituted for the relevant provisions in the 2003 Regulations. The main differences from the 2003 Regulations are as follows –

- (a) the age limit is removed in relation to eligibility for assistance, and eligible part-time students may receive support for a total of eight years instead of six (regulation 28);
- (b) loans will no longer be made available in relation to part time courses. Instead, students who qualify on financial grounds will receive a grant for fees capped at half the fee grant for full-time courses, and a grant for a maximum of £250 in respect of course expenditure. The full amount will be available to students in receipt of certain benefits, or whose income (with certain disregards) is below £14,600, and a reduced grant will be available on a tapering basis to those with higher incomes (regulation 30);
- (c) other amendments are de-regulatory or technical.

A new Schedule 3 (financial assessment) is substituted for the relevant provisions in the 2003 Regulations. The main differences from the 2003 Regulations are as follows –

- (a) the calculation of income is simplified. Instead of assessing all income with a large number of disregards, the assessment is based on gross taxable income, involving very few disregards other than payments towards a pension, earnings during the course and £1,000 for each dependent child (paragraphs 3 and 4);
- (b) in relation to new students starting courses on or after 1st September 2004, the income of the spouse or co-habiting partner if the student's natural parent is taken into account (paragraph 6);
- (c) the student's income is aggregated with that of the parent and other relevant household members to form the household income (paragraph 7);
- (d) the household income threshold is £10,000 for single independent eligible students and £21,475 otherwise, and the contribution increases where the income exceeds that amount, until it reaches the total maximum contribution payable of £7,512. The rate for the parental contribution remains at £1 in every £12.50 and the partner's rate has increased to £1 in every £9.50 (paragraph 8);
- (e) the provisions relating to split contributions are amended to reflect these changes, particularly those relating to the spouse or co-habiting partner of the student's natural parent. Other provisions in this regard allow for calculation of contribution where a student in a family of more than one eligible student has income of his own; for unused amounts of contribution payable from the household income of an eligible student's parent who is himself an eligible student to be added to the income of that parent for the purpose of calculating his support; and to allow that calculation (where relevant) to be on the basis that the eligible student's child's contribution was assessed with reference to the parent's partner, whether or not this was the case (paragraph 9).

Schedule 4 is substituted to add to and amend the descriptions in the list of institutions of higher education in the Republic of Ireland. Attendance at specified courses at these institutions is a basis for eligibility for a student to be supported.
