

Offshore Petroleum Development (Scotland) Act 1975

1975 CHAPTER 8

Acquisition of land for purposes of offshore petroleum development

1 Acquisition of land for purposes connected with offshore petroleum.

- (1) The Secretary of State may acquire by agreement or compulsorily any land in Scotland for any purpose relating to exploration for or exploitation of offshore petroleum [^{F1}or the storage of gas in or under the sea bed or the recovery of gas so stored].
- (2) The purposes mentioned in subsection (1) above include in particular the provision or use of—
 - (a) sites or facilities for the construction or assembly of platforms or other installations for use in or under the sea in connection with the exploration for or exploitation of such petroleum [^{F2}or the storage of gas in or under the sea bed or the recovery of gas so stored];
 - (b) pipe-lines or associated apparatus or works for conveying such petroleum from places under the sea where it is extracted [^{F3}or conveying gas to or from the places in or under the sea bed where it is stored or to be stored];
 - (c) shore terminals for the reception of such petroleum and for its storage or onward despatch [^{F4}or for the reception of gas and for its storage or onward despatch to or from the places in or under the sea bed where it is stored or to be stored and any treatment incidental thereto]; and
 - (d) means of access, housing, sources of material or other services or facilities required for the development or use of land for any purpose referred to in this subsection, or for meeting the needs of persons employed or to be employed in connection with any such purpose.
- (3) The purposes for which land may be acquired under this Act shall not include the refining of crude petroleum, except so far as is necessary for its onward despatch.
- (4) Except in the case of a purchase of land under subsection (5) below, the ^{M1}Acquisition of Land (Authorisation Procedure) (Scotland) Act 1947 shall apply to a compulsory purchase of land by the Secretary of State under this section as it applies to a compulsory purchase of land by a Minister in a case falling within section 1(1) of that Act.

- (5) If it appears to the Secretary of State that any land should be acquired under this Act for a purpose mentioned in subsection (2) above as a matter of urgency, he may, instead of being authorised to purchase the land by a compulsory purchase order under the said Act of 1947, be authorised to purchase it by an order made by him under this subsection.

An order made under this subsection is in this Act referred to as an “expedited acquisition order”.

- (6) A statutory instrument containing an expedited acquisition order shall not be made unless a draft of it has been laid before, and approved by resolution of, each House of Parliament.
- (7) Any such statutory instrument on the expiry of 28 days from the laying of the draft thereof in a House of Parliament shall, whether or not it has been referred to a Committee of that House as aftermentioned, proceed in that House as if its provisions would, apart from this Act, require to be enacted by a public Bill which cannot be referred to a Committee under Standing Orders of that House relating to private Bills.
- (8) Schedule 1 to this Act shall have effect as respects the making and revocation of expedited acquisition orders; and any such order shall have effect as provided in Schedule 2 to this Act.
- (9) An expedited acquisition order shall not be made in respect of any land unless the Secretary of State is satisfied that the land is required for a purpose—
- (a) which is in accordance with planning permission in force at the making of the order, granted on an application made under [F5Part III of the Town and Country Planning (Scotland) Act 1997] or under any enactment replaced by that Part; or
 - (b) which is in accordance with such permission in force as aforesaid, granted by a general development order under [F5section 30] of that Act or under any enactment replaced by that section; or
 - (c) which does not involve development for the purposes of that Act.

2 Extinction of rights affecting land.

- (1) [F6Section 194 of the Town and Country Planning (Scotland) Act 1997] (extinction of rights over land compulsorily acquired under [F6Part VIII] of that Act) shall apply—

Changes to legislation: There are currently no known outstanding effects for the Offshore Petroleum Development (Scotland) Act 1975. (See end of Document for details)

- (a) upon the completion by the Secretary of State of a compulsory acquisition of land under this Act by means of a compulsory purchase order;
- (b) upon his taking possession of land under this Act by means of an expedited acquisition order, as that section applies upon the completion by an acquiring authority of a compulsory acquisition of land under [F6Part VIII] of that Act.

- (2) The provisions of [F6the Town and Country Planning (Scotland) Act 1997] mentioned in subsection (3) below shall apply in relation to—

- (a) any land of which possession has been taken under this Act and any other land, being Crown land, which is used or is intended to be used for any purpose referred to in section 1(1) of this Act; and
- (b) any relevant operations on that land either by or on behalf of the Secretary of State or any other person, as they apply in relation to the land, operations and works referred to respectively in those provisions; and accordingly, for the purposes of such application, references in [F6section 196 of the said Act of 1997] to a planning authority shall be construed as references to the Secretary of State.

- (3) The provisions referred to in subsection (2) above are—

- (a) [F6section 196 of the said Act of 1997] (power to override servitudes and other rights);
- (b) [F6section 197] of that Act (provisions as to churches and burial grounds); and
- (c) [F6section 198] of that Act (use and development of land for open spaces).

- (4) The Secretary of State may by order direct that [F6 sections 224 and 227 of the said Act of 1997] (extinction of rights of way, and rights as to apparatus, of statutory undertakers) and [F6sections 232(2) and 233] of that Act so far as applicable for the purposes [F6of sections 224 and 227], shall apply, with such modifications as appear to him to be necessary, in relation to any such land as is mentioned in subsection (2) (a) above, as they apply in relation to land referred to in [F6the said section 224] which has been acquired by a Minister.

- (5) The Secretary of State may by order extinguish any public rights of way or other public rights which in his opinion are hindering or would hinder any relevant operations carried on or proposed to be carried on, on any such land as is mentioned in subsection (2)(a) above, by or on behalf of the Secretary of State or any other person.

- (6) An order under subsection (5) above shall, if the Secretary of State is satisfied that it should do so, provide for the creation of an alternative right of way for use as a replacement for any right of way which is extinguished by the order.

- (7) In this section references to particular provisions of the said Act of 1972 shall be construed as including references to those provisions as applied in relation to the National Coal Board by regulations made under section 259 of that Act.

*Designated sea areas3 Designated sea areas.

- (1) If it appears to the Secretary of State that it is desirable, for the purpose of facilitating or controlling the execution of relevant operations in any part of the sea surrounding Scotland which is within United Kingdom waters, that any of the provisions of sections 4 to 7 of this Act should apply in relation to that area, he may, after consulting such local authorities and such organisations representing the interests of fishermen as appear to him to be concerned, by an order made under this subsection, declare that part of the sea to be a designated sea area.

An order made under this subsection is in this Act referred to as a “sea designation order”.

- (2) A statutory instrument containing an order made under this section shall be subject to annulment in pursuance of a resolution of either House of Parliament.
- (3) Schedule 3 to this Act shall have effect as respects the making and revocation of sea designation orders.

4 Licences in relation to operations in designated sea areas.

- (1) No relevant operations shall be executed in a designated sea area unless the person responsible for the operations is authorised to execute them by a licence granted by the Secretary of State under this section.
- (2) Subject to subsection (3) below, no other works shall be executed in a designated sea area unless the person responsible for the works is authorised to execute them by such a licence as aforesaid.
- (3) Where a designated sea area includes any part of the area of a harbour authority, that authority shall remain entitled to grant any licence or permission for the execution of works in the designated sea area which they could have granted but for the passing of this Act, except to the extent that the said works are, in the opinion of the Secretary of State, relevant operations, and (except as aforesaid) in such a case no licence under this section shall be required; and the authority shall (except as aforesaid) remain entitled without such a licence to execute any works which they could have executed but for the passing of this Act.
- (4) The Secretary of State, before granting a licence under this section for any relevant operations within the area of a harbour authority, shall consult with that authority.
- (5) A harbour authority, before executing works or granting any licence or permission for executing works in any part of their area which is within a designated sea area, shall, to such extent as the Secretary of State may direct, consult with him.
- (6) For the purposes of this section and sections 5 to 7 of this Act, the execution of operations or other works by the Secretary of State in terms of this Act shall be deemed to be licensed under this section, and any reference to a licence shall be construed accordingly; and the reference in subsection (4) above to granting a licence under this section for any relevant operations shall include a reference to executing such operations.

5 Terms and effect, etc. of licences under s. 4.

- (1) A licence under section 4 of this Act may be granted subject to conditions relating to the conduct of the operations or works subject thereto; and the said conditions may include conditions in respect of any relevant operations (whether or not within the designated sea area to which the licence relates) which are related to the operations or works which are the subject of the licence.
- (2) A licence granted in respect of relevant operations in terms of section 4(1) of this Act shall supersede any inconsistent provision in any local enactment or in any byelaw or licence made or granted (whether before or after the granting of the licence first mentioned) by a local authority, harbour authority or other public authority; . . . ^{F7}
- (3) Subject to subsection (4) below, a licence granted in respect of relevant operations in terms of section 4(1) of this Act shall have the effect that no action shall lie in respect of any interference with any public or private rights of navigation or fishery or other public or private rights in the sea or sea bed in the designated sea area to which the licence relates, arising from operations carried on in accordance with the licence.
- (4) Where a private right is interfered with under the authority of subsection (3) above, the person to whom the licence has been granted shall be liable to pay compensation for any resulting loss or damage suffered by the person entitled to the right; and any question of disputed compensation under this subsection shall be referred to and determined by the Lands Tribunal for Scotland.
- (5) Any person responsible for operations or works requiring a licence under section 4 of this Act who executes such operations or works without such a licence, and any holder of such a licence who contravenes a condition imposed under subsection (1) above, shall be guilty of an offence, and shall be liable—
 - (a) on conviction on indictment, to a fine;
 - (b) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding £5,000;and if the contravention consists in failing to execute any operations or works the Secretary of State may execute them and recover the cost of doing so from the person in default.
- (6) The Secretary of State may charge, for the issue of a licence under section 4 of this Act, such fee as he may with the approval of the Treasury determine.
- (7) A licence granted under section 4 of this Act may at any time be varied or revoked by the Secretary of State.

- (a) the regulation and protection of relevant operations and other works executed in a designated sea area in accordance with a licence granted under section 4 of this Act;
- (b) the prohibition or restriction of entry into or into any part of any such area, and the control and protection of navigation there;
- (c) the organisation or control of pilotage in any such area;
- (d) the protection of fishing in any such area;
- (e) the safety of persons in any such area;
- (f) the prevention of pollution and nuisance in any such area;
- (g) the levying by the Secretary of State of charges on vessels, platforms and other installations located in or entering or leaving any such area;
- (h) enabling the Secretary of State to regulate, for the purposes of this subsection, the activities of any persons and the movement of any vehicles or vessels in any such area; and such regulations may apply to one or more designated sea areas and may make different provision in respect of different designated sea areas or parts thereof.

- (2) Before making, varying or revoking regulations under this section, the Secretary of State shall consult any harbour authority . . . ^{F8} whose area includes any part of a designated sea area to which the regulations relate.
- (3) Regulations made under this section shall supersede any inconsistent provision in any local enactment or in any byelaw or licence made or granted (whether before or after the making of the regulations) by a local authority, harbour authority or other public authority.
- (4) Any person who contravenes any regulation made under this section shall be guilty of an offence, and shall be liable—
 - (a) on conviction on indictment, to a fine;
 - (b) on summary conviction, to a fine not exceeding £5,000.

7 Execution and enforcement of regulations, etc. in designated sea areas.

- (1) The power of the Secretary of State to enforce the conditions of licences granted under section 4 of this Act and to execute and enforce regulations made under section 6 of this Act may be exercised by him or his officers or servants, or may by order be delegated by him, in relation to any designated sea area, to any harbour authority or local authority designated by him.
- (2) The power of the Secretary of State referred to in subsection (1) above shall include power, for the purposes of execution and enforcement as aforesaid, to operate any vehicle or vessel within designated sea areas, and to acquire the same for such purposes.
- (3) For the purpose of executing or enforcing regulations made under section 6 of this Act, any officer or servant of the Secretary of State or of a harbour authority or local authority to whom the powers of the Secretary of State have been delegated under subsection (1) above may, if authorised to execute or enforce the said regulations,

- (a) at any reasonable time board or enter any vessel, platform or other installation located in a designated sea area;
 - (b) if the person in charge of the said vessel, platform or other installation cannot be found or if he neglects or refuses to do anything reasonably required for the purpose of execution or enforcement of the said regulations, himself (at the expense of the owner) do anything reasonably required for that purpose, including the removal of any vessel.
- (4) An order in terms of subsection (1) above may confer, upon the authority to whom the powers are delegated, jurisdiction to exercise those powers within any part of the designated sea area which is outside the area of the authority, but before making an order which confers jurisdiction as aforesaid to exercise powers in an area which includes any part of the area of a harbour authority, the Secretary of State shall consult with the said harbour authority.
- (5) The Secretary of State may defray or contribute towards any expenses incurred by any authority in the exercise of the powers delegated to them under subsection (1) above.
- (6) Proceedings against any person for an offence under section 5 or 6 of this Act may be taken, and the offence may for all incidental purposes be treated as having been committed, at any place in the United Kingdom where he is for the time being.

Reinstatement of land

8 Reinstatement of land held under Act.

- (1) If it appears to the Secretary of State that any land of which possession has been taken under this Act is no longer needed for the purposes of this Act, he shall, subject to subsection (2) below, reinstate it, or secure its reinstatement, to the condition in which it was before such possession was taken so far as in his opinion, after consulting such local authorities and such other bodies as appear to him to be concerned, is reasonably practicable.
- (2) Subsection (1) above shall not apply where the Secretary of State is satisfied, after consulting as aforesaid, that the land—
- (a) should be used for a purpose other than that for which it was formerly used as aforesaid; or
 - (b) should not for any other reason be reinstated as aforesaid;
- and in a case within paragraph (a) above the Secretary of State may, if he thinks fit, carry out, or contribute to the cost of, works for making the land suitable for use for the proposed purpose.

9 Arrangements to ensure reinstatement of other land developed for purposes connected with offshore petroleum.

- (1) Where a planning authority grant planning permission for any development of land for the purpose of any relevant operation, not being land of which possession has been taken under this Act, and where the permission is granted subject to a condition requiring the carrying out of any works required for the reinstatement of land, the authority may require that, before the commencement of such development, arrangements satisfactory to them should be made for the purpose of ensuring that money is set aside or otherwise made available or guaranteed, under the control of the authority or otherwise, for payment of the cost of such reinstatement; and any such requirement shall have effect as if it were a further condition of the grant of planning permission, and shall be enforceable accordingly.

- (2) No requirement under subsection (1) above may be imposed except with the approval of the Secretary of State.
- (3) The Secretary of State may—
 - (a) direct the planning authority to impose a requirement under subsection (1) above in the case of any development to which that subsection applies;
 - (b) impose such a requirement in the case of any such development in respect of which the application for planning permission has been referred to him under [^{F9}section 46 of the Town and Country Planning (Scotland) Act 1997], and in such a case the said subsection (1) shall apply with the substitution for references to the planning authority of references to the Secretary of State.
- (4) The Secretary of State may give directions with regard to the exercise of the power conferred by this section and to the terms of arrangements thereunder, and such directions may either be given generally or may relate to a particular application or to applications of a class specified in the direction, and may make different provision in respect of different cases.
