

Protection from Harassment Act 1997

1997 CHAPTER 40

England and Wales

1 Prohibition of harassment.

- (1) A person must not pursue a course of conduct—
- which amounts to harassment of another, and
  - which he knows or ought to know amounts to harassment of the other.

- [<sup>F1</sup>(1A) A person must not pursue a course of conduct —
- which involves harassment of two or more persons, and
  - which he knows or ought to know involves harassment of those persons, and
  - by which he intends to persuade any person (whether or not one of those mentioned above)—
    - not to do something that he is entitled or required to do, or
    - to do something that he is not under any obligation to do.]

- (2) For the purposes of this section [<sup>F2</sup>or section 2A(2)(c)], the person whose course of conduct is in question ought to know that it amounts to [<sup>F3</sup> or involves] harassment of another if a reasonable person in possession of the same information would think the course of conduct amounted to harassment of the other.

- (3) Subsection (1) [<sup>F4</sup>or (1A)] does not apply to a course of conduct if the person who pursued it shows—
- that it was pursued for the purpose of preventing or detecting crime,
  - that it was pursued under any enactment or rule of law or to comply with any condition or requirement imposed by any person under any enactment, or
  - that in the particular circumstances the pursuit of the course of conduct was reasonable.

[<sup>F7</sup>2A Offence of stalking

- (1) A person is guilty of an offence if—
- the person pursues a course of conduct in breach of section 1(1), and
  - the course of conduct amounts to stalking.
- (2) For the purposes of subsection (1)(b) (and section 4A(1)(a)) a person's course of conduct amounts to stalking of another person if—
- it amounts to harassment of that person,
  - the acts or omissions involved are ones associated with stalking, and
  - the person whose course of conduct it is knows or ought to know that the course of conduct amounts to harassment of the other person.
- (3) The following are examples of acts or omissions which, in particular circumstances, are ones associated with stalking—
- following a person,
  - contacting, or attempting to contact, a person by any means,
  - publishing any statement or other material—
    - relating or purporting to relate to a person, or
    - purporting to originate from a person,
  - monitoring the use by a person of the internet, email or any other form of electronic communication,
  - loitering in any place (whether public or private),
  - interfering with any property in the possession of a person,
  - watching or spying on a person.

[<sup>F8</sup>2B Power of entry in relation to offence of stalking

- (1) A justice of the peace may, on an application by a constable, issue a warrant authorising a constable to enter and search premises if the justice of the peace is satisfied that there are reasonable grounds for believing that—
  - (a) an offence under section 2A has been, or is being, committed,
  - (b) there is material on the premises which is likely to be of substantial value (whether by itself or together with other material) to the investigation of the offence,
  - (c) the material—
    - (i) is likely to be admissible in evidence at a trial for the offence, and
    - (ii) does not consist of, or include, items subject to legal privilege, excluded material or special procedure material (within the meanings given by sections 10, 11 and 14 of the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984), and
  - (d) either—
    - (i) entry to the premises will not be granted unless a warrant is produced, or
    - (ii) the purpose of a search may be frustrated or seriously prejudiced unless a constable arriving at the premises can secure immediate entry to them.
- (2) A constable may seize and retain anything for which a search has been authorised under subsection (1).
- (3) A constable may use reasonable force, if necessary, in the exercise of any power conferred by virtue of this section.
- (4) In this section “premises” has the same meaning as in section 23 of the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984.]

3 Civil remedy.

- (1) An actual or apprehended breach of [<sup>F9</sup>section 1(1)] may be the subject of a claim in civil proceedings by the person who is or may be the victim of the course of conduct in question.
- (2) On such a claim, damages may be awarded for (among other things) any anxiety caused by the harassment and any financial loss resulting from the harassment.
- (3) Where—
  - (a) in such proceedings the High Court or a county court grants an injunction for the purpose of restraining the defendant from pursuing any conduct which amounts to harassment, and
  - (b) the plaintiff considers that the defendant has done anything which he is prohibited from doing by the injunction, the plaintiff may apply for the issue of a warrant for the arrest of the defendant.
- (4) An application under subsection (3) may be made—
  - (a) where the injunction was granted by the High Court, to a judge of that court, and
  - (b) where the injunction was granted by a county court, to a judge or district judge of that or any other county court.
- (5) The judge or district judge to whom an application under subsection (3) is made may only issue a warrant if—
  - (a) the application is substantiated on oath, and
  - (b) the judge or district judge has reasonable grounds for believing that the defendant has done anything which he is prohibited from doing by the injunction.
- (6) Where—
  - (a) the High Court or a county court grants an injunction for the purpose mentioned in subsection (3)(a), and
  - (b) without reasonable excuse the defendant does anything which he is prohibited from doing by the injunction, he is guilty of an offence.
- (7) Where a person is convicted of an offence under subsection (6) in respect of any conduct, that conduct is not punishable as a contempt of court.
- (8) A person cannot be convicted of an offence under subsection (6) in respect of any conduct which has been punished as a contempt of court.
- (9) A person guilty of an offence under subsection (6) is liable—
  - (a) on conviction on indictment, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years, or a fine, or both, or
  - (b) on summary conviction, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum, or both.

4 Putting people in fear of violence.

- (1) A person whose course of conduct causes another to fear, on at least two occasions, that violence will be used against him is guilty of an offence if he knows or ought to know that his course of conduct will cause the other so to fear on each of those occasions.
- (2) For the purposes of this section, the person whose course of conduct is in question ought to know that it will cause another to fear that violence will be used against him on any occasion if a reasonable person in possession of the same information would think the course of conduct would cause the other so to fear on that occasion.
- (3) It is a defence for a person charged with an offence under this section to show that—
  - (a) his course of conduct was pursued for the purpose of preventing or detecting crime,
  - (b) his course of conduct was pursued under any enactment or rule of law or to comply with any condition or requirement imposed by any person under any enactment, or
  - (c) the pursuit of his course of conduct was reasonable for the protection of himself or another or for the protection of his or another’s property.
- (4) A person guilty of an offence under this section is liable—
  - (a) on conviction on indictment, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding five years, or a fine, or both, or
  - (b) on summary conviction, to imprisonment for a term not exceeding six months, or a fine not exceeding the statutory maximum, or both.
