

Law Officers Act 1997

1997 CHAPTER 60

An Act to enable functions of the Attorney General and of the Attorney General for Northern Ireland to be exercised by the Solicitor General; and for connected purposes. [31st July 1997]

Be it enacted by the Queen's most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows:—

1 The Attorney General and the Solicitor General.

- (1) Any function of the Attorney General may be exercised by the Solicitor General.
- (2) Anything done by or in relation to the Solicitor General in the exercise of or in connection with a function of the Attorney General has effect as if done by or in relation to the Attorney General.
- (3) The validity of anything done in relation to the Attorney General, or done by or in relation to the Solicitor General, is not affected by a vacancy in the office of Attorney General.
- (4) Nothing in this section—
 - (a) prevents anything being done by or in relation to the Attorney General in the exercise of or in connection with any function of his; or
 - (b) requires anything done by the Solicitor General to be done in the name of the Solicitor General instead of the name of the Attorney General.
- (5) It is immaterial for the purposes of this section whether a function of the Attorney General arises under an enactment or otherwise.

2 The Attorney General for Northern Ireland and the Solicitor General.

- (1) Any function of the Attorney General for Northern Ireland may be exercised by the Solicitor General for England and Wales.

Status: Point in time view as at 30/09/1997.

Changes to legislation: There are currently no known outstanding effects for the Law Officers Act 1997. (See end of Document for details)

- (2) Anything done by or in relation to the Solicitor General in the exercise of or in connection with a function of the Attorney General has effect as if done by or in relation to the Attorney General.
- (3) The validity of anything done in relation to the Attorney General, or done by or in relation to the Solicitor General, is not affected by a vacancy in the office of Attorney General.
- (4) Nothing in this section—
 - (a) prevents anything being done by or in relation to the Attorney General in the exercise of or in connection with any function of his; or
 - (b) requires anything done by the Solicitor General to be done in the name of the Solicitor General instead of the name of the Attorney General.
- (5) It is immaterial for the purposes of this section whether a function of the Attorney General arises under an enactment or otherwise.
- (6) In this section “Attorney General” means the Attorney General for Northern Ireland.

3 Short title, repeals, commencement and extent.

- (1) This Act may be cited as the Law Officers Act 1997.
- (2) The enactments specified in the Schedule to this Act (which include spent provisions and provisions conferring specific functions on the Solicitor General concurrently with the Attorney General or the Attorney General for Northern Ireland) are repealed to the extent specified.
- (3) This Act comes into force at the end of the period of two months beginning with the date on which it is passed.
- (4) Any repeal made by this Act has the same extent as the enactment being repealed.
- (5) Subject to subsection (4), this Act extends to Northern Ireland.

Status: Point in time view as at 30/09/1997.
