(2) Where the information needed to make any calculation required by the equity method in connection with an existing undertaking is not available or cannot be obtained without unreasonable expense or delay, the calculation may be based upon the earliest recorded information available after the date of the acquisition of the appropriate interest in the undertaking concerned, provided that the notes to the accounts disclose the date of the information used.

(3) For the purposes of this paragraph, an “existing undertaking” is an associated or subsidiary undertaking the appropriate interest in which was acquired during a financial year prior to the first financial year for which a company is required to prepare accounts under the new Part VII.

2.—(1) This paragraph applies where an election is in force, under the provisions of section 366A of the amended 1985 Act(14), to dispense with the holding of annual general meetings, at a time when sections 363 to 365 of the amended 1985 Act(15) are not in force.

(2) Where this paragraph applies:

(a) section 365 of the unamended 1985 Act shall apply as if sub-section

(b) paragraph 5(a) of Schedule 15 to the 1985 Act shall apply as if the words “on the fourteenth day after the company’s annual general meeting for the year” read “on a date not more than 28 days prior to the date on which the company’s annual return is completed”.

General transitional and saving provisions relating to sections 118 to 124

3.—(1) The provisions of this paragraph have effect, in addition to the provisions of the Interpretation Act 1978, for securing the continuity of the law so far as sections 118 to 124 of the 1989 Act re-enact (with or without modification) provisions of sections 384 to 394 of the unamended 1985 Act.

(2) References (express or implied) in any enactment (including in any subordinate legislation within the meaning of section 21(1) of the Interpretation Act 1978) to any provision of new sections 384 to 394A inserted by sections 118 to 123 of the 1989 Act shall, so far as the context permits, be construed as including a reference to the corresponding provision of sections 384 to 394 of the unamended 1985 Act.

(3) Where an offence has been committed for the continuance of which a penalty was provided for under any provision of sections 384 to 394 of the unamended 1985 Act, proceedings may be taken under the corresponding provision of new sections 384 to 394A inserted by sections 118 to 123 of the 1989 Act in respect of the continuance of the offence on and after 1st April 1990 in the like manner as if the offence had been committed under the corresponding provision.

(14) Section 366A is inserted by section 115(2) of the 1989 Act.

(15) Sections 363 to 365 of the amended 1985 Act are inserted into the 1985 Act by section 139(1) of the 1989 Act.

Status: This is the original version (as it was originally made). This item of legislation is currently only available in its original format.

(4) Where any period of time specified in any provision of sections 384 to 394 of the unamended 1985 Act is current immediately prior to 1st April 1990, and there is a corresponding provision in new sections 384 to 394A inserted by sections 118 to 123 of the 1989 Act, those new sections shall have effect as if that corresponding provision had been in force when that period began to run.

(5) The provisions of this paragraph have effect subject to any specific transitional or saving provisions made by this Order.

Transitional provisions having effect in relation to a relevant financial year of a company

4. References in sections 385A, 388A(4), 393 and 394 (inserted by sections 119(1), 122(1) and 123(1) of the 1989 Act) to section 238 shall be construed, with respect to a relevant financial year of a company, as references to section 240 of the unamended 1985 Act.

5. New section 385A, inserted by section 119(1) of the 1989 Act, shall have effect with respect to a relevant financial year of a company as if the references therein to the company's annual accounts and first annual accounts were to the documents referred to in section 239(a) and (d) of the unamended 1985 Act.

6. New section 386(2), inserted by section 119(1) of the 1989 Act, shall have effect with respect to a relevant financial year of a company as if the reference to section 250 was a reference to section 252 of the unamended 1985 Act.

7. New section 388A(1) and (3), inserted by section 119(1) of the 1989 Act, shall not apply with respect to a relevant financial year of a company and:

- (a) the reference in section 384 to that section shall be construed, with respect to such a year, as a reference to section 252 of the unamended 1985 Act; and
- (b) sections 388A(4), and 388A(2) and (5) so far as they relate to section 388A(4), shall apply with respect to a loss of an exemption under section 252 of the unamended 1985 Act.

8. New section 389A, inserted by section 120(1) of the 1989 Act, shall have effect with respect to a relevant financial year of a company as if the references therein to a "parent company" or "subsidiary undertaking" included references to a "holding company" or a "subsidiary" respectively, within the meaning of section 736 of the 1985 Act as unamended by the 1989 Act.

9. New section 390A(3), inserted by section 121 of the 1989 Act, shall not apply with respect to a relevant financial year of a company.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Order)

This Order brings into force certain of the provisions of the Companies Act 1989.

Article 3 of this Order brings into force the provisions of Part I of the 1989 Act (Company Accounts) with the exception of:

- Section 15 (Public listed companies: provision of summary financial statement) which is already in force; and

Status: This is the original version (as it was originally made). This item of legislation is currently only available in its original format.

- sections 7 (in so far as it inserts a new section 233(5) into the Companies Act 1985 (Offence where annual accounts approved which are defective)), 11 (in so far as it inserts a new section 242A into the Companies Act 1985 (Civil penalty for failure to deliver accounts)) and 12 (Remedies for failure to comply with accounting requirements), which will be brought into force by a later order.

The provisions of Part I commenced by this Order come into force on 1st April 1990 except for one consequential amendment to the Companies Act 1985 which comes into force on 1st August 1990.

Articles 6 to 9 of, and Schedules 2 and 3 to, the Order set out a number of transitional and saving provisions which relate to the commencement of Part I. Most importantly, with certain exceptions, the existing rules relating to the accounts and reports of companies will continue to have effect for financial years of a company commencing prior to 23rd December 1989 instead of the amended provisions inserted by the Companies Act 1989. Saving provisions are made to ensure the continuity of the law between the old and the new Part VII of the Companies Act 1985.

Article 4 of this Order brings into force, in Part V (Other amendments of company law), sections 113 to 117 (De-regulation of private companies), 118 to 124 (Appointment and removal of auditors and related matters), 131 (Member’s rights to damages, &c), 132 (Financial assistance for purposes of employees’ share scheme), 136 (A company’s registered office), 137 (Effecting of insurance for officers and auditors of company) and certain minor amendments made by section 145 and Schedule 19. These minor amendments are those made by paragraphs 15 and 16 (Exemptions from limit of 20 on members of partnership), 17 (meaning of “officer who is in default”), and 18 (Offences committed by partnerships and other unincorporated bodies) of Schedule 19. All these provisions come into force on 1st April 1990.

Articles 11 and 12 to 14 of the Order set out certain transitional or saving provisions relating to sections 115, 118 to 124, 131, 136 and 137 of the 1989 Act.

Article 5 of this Order brings into force section 212 and Schedule 24, which set out the repeals of enactments made by the 1989 Act, to the extent (with certain exceptions) that they relate to the other provisions of the Act brought into force by this Order on the date those provisions come into force, 1st April 1990.

Article 15 of this Order inserts a reference to the actual date of commencement into a provision of the new Part VII of the Companies Act 1985.

Article 16 of this Order revokes a reference in article 7(d) of the Companies Act 1989 (Commencement No.2) Order 1990 which purports (due to a clerical error) to commence a reference to a repeal in the repeals Schedule to the 1989 Act which does not in fact exist. The correct reference to the repeal is commenced by article 5(e) of this Order with effect from 1st March 1990, though the repeal is already made by virtue of section 76(8) of the 1989 Act commenced by article 4 of the Companies Act 1989 (Commencement No. 2) Order 1990.

Article 17 revokes, with effect from 1st April 1990, the transitional provisions relating to section 15 of the 1989 Act in article 8 of the Companies Act 1989 (Commencement No.2) Order 1990 (which has been superseded by the transitional provisions in this Order).
