THE SCHEDULE

Regulation 2

CALCULATION OF THE SRM CHARGE

1. The SRM charge payable by the occupier of any slaughterhouse or any authorised cutting premises in respect of any period shall be the amount arrived at by multiplying the time (expressed in hours and fractions of an hour) spent by each SRM inspector carrying out the SRM inspections at that establishment in the period concerned by the hourly rate applicable to that inspector determined in accordance with paragraphs 2 to 5 below.

2. The Minister shall determine the hourly rate applicable to SRM inspectors, and may determine different rates for different classes of SRM inspector, having regard to the level of qualifications and experience, and to the salary costs (including any local variations in salary levels), of inspectors in that class, and may vary any rate so determined where, having regard to the factors set out in paragraphs 3 and 4 below, it appears to him to be necessary and equitable to do so.

3. The hourly rate for any class of SRM inspector shall be calculated so as to reflect—

- (a) the mean salary costs and fees (including pension and employers' National Insurance contributions) of SRM inspectors in that class; and
- (b) such proportion of the administrative costs of the SRM inspections as the Minister considers it proper to apportion to that hourly rate.

4. For the purposes of paragraph 3(b) above, "administrative costs" means all costs reasonably incurred in providing the SRM inspections, including in particular the costs of—

- (a) recruiting SRM inspectors and training them to enforce the Specified Risk Material Regulations 1997;
- (b) the salaries (including the cost of overtime, pension contributions and employers' National Insurance contributions) of the staff other than SRM inspectors engaged in the administration of the SRM inspections;
- (c) providing office accommodation, equipment and services in relation to the SRM inspections, including depreciation of any office furniture and equipment and also of providing information technology, stationery and forms;
- (d) protective clothing and equipment used in carrying out the SRM inspections, and of laundering such clothing;
- (e) accounting for and collecting the SRM charge and of providing payroll and personnel services in connection with the employment or engagement of SRM inspectors;
- (f) expenses incurred in the course of their employment or engagement by staff providing, administering or managing the SRM inspections; and
- (g) insurance and banking interest and charges.

5. Prior to determining or varying hourly rates in accordance with paragraph 2 above, the Minister shall consult such occupiers as are likely to be affected by those rates.

6. The hourly rate for any class of SRM inspector shall include any overtime payments or other similar allowances made to the inspector concerned under his contract of employment or contract for services for carrying out the SRM inspections.

7. In determining the total time spent in carrying out the SRM inspections any time spent by an SRM inspector—

- (a) in travelling to or from premises at which he carries out the SRM inspections and for which he is paid under a contract of employment or contract for services;
- (b) at any premises to which he has gone for the purpose of carrying out the SRM inspections and for which he is paid under a contract of employment or contract for services (regardless of whether or not he is able to carry out an inspection there); and

(c) at any other place—

(i) when he is available for carrying out the SRM inspections but is not in fact carrying out same, and

(ii) for which he is paid under his contract of employment or contract for services, shall be counted as if it were time when the inspector concerned was carrying out the SRM inspections.

8. In this Schedule, “period” means an accounting period as defined by regulation 3(3) above.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations enable the Minister to levy a charge on the occupiers of slaughterhouses and cutting premises at which specified risk material (“SRM”) is removed from the carcasses of cattle, sheep and goats (as required by the Specified Risk Material Regulations 1997, S.I. 1997/2965) in respect of the cost incurred by the Minister in undertaking the inspections and controls permitted by regulations 10(9) and 15(4) of those Regulations (“the SRM inspections”).

These Regulations provide that the Minister must notify the occupier of each place in which SRM inspections have taken place in any accounting period of the charge for that inspection as soon as practicable after the end of the accounting period. Where such a notification has been made that occupier and the owner of the establishment in respect of which the charge arose will be jointly and severally liable for the charge (regulation 3).

These Regulations provide that the Minister may require any person to provide him with such information as he may reasonably require to calculate the SRM charge, or to verify information provided for that purpose. A person who knowingly or recklessly provides information which is false or misleading is guilty of an offence (regulation 4).

These Regulations amend the Specified Risk Material Regulations 1997 to provide that the Minister may withdraw the inspections and controls provided for in regulation 10(9) of those Regulations and may suspend the authorisation of a plant authorised pursuant to regulation 15(7) thereof where the person liable to pay the SRM charge under these Regulations fails to do so, despite judgment for the sum owed having been entered against him (appropriate modifications are made insofar as these Regulations apply to Scotland). The amendments to the Specified Risk Material Regulations also prohibit the sale for human consumption of the carcase of a ruminant animal which has not been inspected and marked in accordance with regulation 10(9) of those Regulations and of the carcasses of certain sheep and goats which have not been inspected in accordance with regulation 15(4) thereof (regulation 5).

The Schedule to these Regulations specifies how the SRM charge is to be calculated, and provides that the Minister shall determine the hourly rates used in the calculation of that charge following consultation with the relevant occupier.

A regulatory impact assessment has been prepared and placed in the library of each House of Parliament. Copies can be obtained from the Meat Hygiene Division of the Ministry of Agriculture, Fisheries and Food, Ergon House, Room 534, 17 Smith Square, London SW1P 3JR.
