the Minister may give to the Licensee, with the notice given or the programme served as mentioned in sub-paragraph (a) of this paragraph or, in a case falling within sub-paragraph (b) of this paragraph, within the period of three months beginning with the date of the arbitrator’s or arbiter’s determination, a notice (hereafter in this clause referred to as a “Limitation Notice”) authorising the Minister, by a further notice given to the Licensee from time to time after the expiration of the period specified in that behalf in the Limitation Notice, to provide that the programme to which the Limitation Notice relates shall have effect while the further notice is in force with the substitution for any quantity of Petroleum or any period specified in the programme in pursuance of clause 14(2)(c) of this licence of a different quantity of Petroleum or a different period specified in the further notice.

(3) A quantity or period specified in such a further notice as that to be substituted for a quantity or period which is specified in the programme in question shall be such as to secure that the expenditure to be incurred by the Licensee in complying with the further notice, in a case where an effect of the notice is to increase the quantity of Petroleum which the Licensee is required to get from the Licensed Area in any period, is less than the cost of drilling a new Well in the Licensed Area at the time when the further notice is given.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations prescribe the model clauses which, unless the Secretary of State thinks fit to modify or exclude them in any particular case, will be incorporated in exploration, production and petroleum exploration and development licences. The model clauses prescribed will apply for the purposes of the 22nd and subsequent rounds of licensing in seaward areas and the 12th and subsequent rounds of licensing in landward areas.

The purpose of The Petroleum (Current Model Clauses) Order 1999 (S.I.1999/160) (“the 1999 Order”) was to consolidate the model clauses which, prior to the date appointed for commencement of the Petroleum Act 1998 (“the Act”), had been prescribed by the Secretary of State under a series of Statutory Instruments and which were incorporated in licences still in existence at the date so appointed. Section 5(5) of the Act provides that the model clauses set out in the 1999 Order are substituted in relation to the relevant licences for those prescribed under the Statutory Instruments which preceded the Order. These Regulations apply notwithstanding anything contained in the 1999 Order, the sole purpose of which was to effect the above-mentioned process of consolidation.

A Regulatory Impact Assessment has not been prepared. These Regulations have no regulatory impact on existing licences and apply only for the purpose of future licensing rounds. However, it is not possible to describe meaningfully the effect that the revised model clauses are likely to have, not least because their effect on future licences is likely to vary according to the individual characteristics possessed by each licensee. In the circumstances, any Regulatory Impact Assessment which might have been produced would have been likely to have been misleading.
