The Marriage Act 1949 (Remedial) Order 2007

Made - - - - - 15th February 2007

Coming into force - - - - - 1st March 2007

It appears to the Lord Chancellor, following a finding of the European Court of Human Rights⁽¹⁾ after the coming into force of section 10 of the Human Rights Act 1998⁽²⁾ in proceedings against the United Kingdom, that certain provisions of the Marriage Act 1949⁽³⁾ are incompatible with an obligation of the United Kingdom arising from the Convention⁽⁴⁾.

The Lord Chancellor considers that there are compelling reasons for proceeding by way of a remedial Order to make such amendments to the Marriage Act 1949 as he considers necessary to remove the incompatibility.

In accordance with paragraph 2(a) of Schedule 2 to the Human Rights Act 1998, a draft of this instrument was laid before Parliament and was approved by a resolution of each House of Parliament, a document containing a draft of this instrument having previously been laid before Parliament in accordance with paragraph 3(1) of Schedule 2 to that Act.

Accordingly the Lord Chancellor makes the following Order in exercise of the powers conferred by section 10(2) of, and paragraph 1(1)(a) of Schedule 2 to, the Human Rights Act 1998:

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Order)

This Order amends section 1 of and Schedule 1 to the Marriage Act 1949 (“the 1949 Act”) to remedy their incompatibility with a Convention Right.

In the case of B and L v United Kingdom (Application No.36536/02) the European Court of Human Rights found that there had been a violation of article 12 of the Convention in that the prohibition on marriages between a person and the parent of their former spouse and between a person and the former spouse of their child could not be supported as rational and logical.

In order to remedy this incompatibility the provisions of the 1949 Act forbidding the marriage of a person to the parent of his former spouse and the marriage of a person to the former spouse of his child are repealed by article 2(a) of this Order. Article 2(b) exempts a Church of England or Church in Wales clergyman from what would otherwise be his obligation to solemnize a marriage between those permitted to marry by article 2(a). Article 3 repeals certain provisions in consequence of article 2.
